

How about making rules to reduce the level of media consolidation we already have?